Other complaints about the Police Authority

There may be complaints against the Authority that do not fall into any of the above categories. For example, complaints about the overall policies and procedures of the Authority. In such instances, complaints should be made in writing to:

Chief Executive
Suffolk Police Authority
Police Headquarters
Martlesham Heath
Ipswich
IP5 3QS

Email: spa@suffolk.pnn.police.uk

Complaints against the Police

Information on how to make a complaint against police officers and police staff is available on the website of the Independent Police Complaints Commission (IPCC) at www.ipcc.gov.uk. The IPCC is completely independent of the police and is responsible for making sure that complaints against the police are dealt with properly. In certain circumstances, you can appeal to the IPCC if you are not satisfied with the way your complaint has been dealt with by the police.

Chief Officers

The Police authority is responsible for recording and investigating complaints against Chief Officers of the Suffolk Constabulary, i.e. the Chief Constable, the Deputy Chief Constable and the Assistant Chief Constable. All complaints must be in writing to the Chief Executive at the following address:

Suffolk Police Authority
Police Headquarters
Martlesham Heath
Ipswich
IP5 3QS

Complaints may also be made via the Independent Police Complaints Commission via their website or by telephone – 08453 002 002.

The Constabulary

If you wish to make a complaint against a police officer or member of police staff, there is a dedicated section of the Suffolk Constabulary's website which includes all the information you need (<http://www.suffolk.police.uk/Useful+Information/Complaints/default.htm>). Alternatively you can visit the Independent Police Complaints Commission (IPCC) website at www.ipcc.gov.uk or contact them by telephone on 08453 002 002.
